

Lectures on Inner Speech and Cognition

by Ben Alderson-Day
(online event)

November 3rd, 2020

10-11,30 AM (CET): "Inner Speech - what is it good for?"

12-1,30 PM (CET): "Silence and meaning: Examining assumptions about language and cognition in autism"

Image by Celsius Pictor, reproduced with permission

Venue: Registration is free but required. Please send an email to Marta Jorba (marta.jorba@ehu.eus) by October 28th, 2020 to obtain the event link.

Dr. Ben Alderson-Day is Assistant professor in the Department of Psychology at Durham University. He is an expert on the relations between cognition and language in typical and atypical development.

Organised by LindyLab (UPV/EHU) and supported by a 2019 Leonardo Grant for Researchers and Cultural Creators, BBVA Foundation

Fundación
BBVA

